

Workshop on Preparing and Publishing Your Research Manuscripts

On Monday, 28th October 2013, Prof. Michael Zigmond and Dr. Beth Fischer visited NBRC to deliver a workshop on 'Preparing and publishing your research manuscript'. This workshop proved to be an interactive and informative session that was widely attended by students and faculty. Prof. Zigmond and Dr. Fischer then participated in the tradition of planting a sapling in the NBRC compound.

This was followed by a scientific lecture by Prof. Zigmond on his current research involving the exploration of exercise as a potential therapy for Parkinson's disease. The guests then had an informal interaction with students over tea in the courtyard.
